

Cornell's New Catalog

Facts About Current Catalog

- Cornell University has been using the current catalog for approximately 9 years.
- It considers article words such as "a," "an" and "the" in a search and therefore, not very forgiving.
- There is no distinction between searching "books" or "serials" (journals).

Can refine by format

Select as many items as you would like so that you can add them to "New List", "Existing List", "Things I recommend", "Things I own" or "Things to Check Out"

Borrow Direct and Interlibrary Loans are visible on the same page

The screenshot shows the Cornell University Library search interface. The search term 'autonomous vehicles' is entered in the search box. The results are limited to 'Libraries Worldwide (WorldCat)'. The first result is 'Autonomous vehicles in support of naval operations' by the National Research Council (U.S.). The interface includes options to 'Refine Your Search' by author, format, year, and content, and a 'Select All' button for the current results.

Restrict Your Search

- Advanced Search
 - Can limit by language, format, and publication date.
 - Can select more than one option.
 - Contains 30 languages including Dutch, German, Korean, Swedish and Danish.
- Dropdown Menu
 - Able to restrict by selecting: All Libraries Worldwide, Borrow Direct Libraries or to Cornell University Library.

Facts about the New Catalog

- Able to limit search to "books" "articles" or "Internet resources".
- Cornell material will appear first.
- Contains books outside the library (ex. Borrow Direct or Interlibrary Loans).
